Norwegian is voted Europe's Leading Low-Cost Airline 2015 by the World Travel Awards

Norwegian was yesterday (Saturday, 5th September) named Europe's Leading Low-Cost Airline 2015 by the renowned World Travel Awards, one of the travel industry's most prestigious awards.

This is the seventh prestigious title awarded to Norwegian over the last 12 months, and follows the recent Skytrax Awards for 'Europe's Best Low Cost Airline', and 'World's Best Low Cost, Long Haul Airline'.

The World Travel Awards are leaders in the travel sector, with over 650,000 individual votes cast by travel professionals and consumers.

Bjorn Kjos, Norwegian's CEO, said: "This accolade is an important endorsement not only to Norwegian as an airline, but to the work of thousands of dedicated employees across our organization.

"Their commitment to passenger welfare is unmatched and together with new aircraft, low fares and free Wi-Fi represents what sets Norwegian apart from our competitors. We would like to thank the thousands of customers that have cast their vote for Norwegian."

Norwegian faced competition in the category from renowned international companies such as Aer Lingus, Air Berlin, easyJet, Monarch, Ryanair and Vueling.

Graham Cooke, World Travel Awards President, said: "It is a great honour to present the trophy for Europe's Leading Low-Cost Airline to Norwegian for the first time.

"Europe is a global leader in low-cost air travel, with some incredibly strong brands making it one of the most competitive markets anywhere on earth. To triumph here is a great credit to the work Norwegian is doing and World Travel Awards wishes them every success in their future endeavors."

Seven awards over the last year

The Europe's Leading Low-Cost Airline 2015 award is the seventh honour awarded to Norwegian over the last twelve months: three Apex Passenger Choice awards (Best in Region: Europe, Best in Inflight Connectivity & Communications, and Best Single Achievement in Passenger Experience) two Sky Trax World Airline awards (World's best low cost, long haul airline and Europe's Best Low-Cost Airline –this one for the third year in a row), one AirlineRatings.com award (Best European low-cost airline), and today's trophy.

Alfons Claver, Norwegian's Institutional Relations Manager in Spain, accepted the award yesterday at the Grand Tour of World Travel Awards Gala ceremony at the Forte Village resort of Sardinia (Italy).
