These fantastic offers will provide passengers high quality flights at even more affordable fares, all while flying on one of the youngest and greenest fleets in the industry".

Following the success of Norwegian's long-haul service from London Gatwick to a number of popular cities in the U.S, the airline will add two new transatlantic routes to Seattle and Denver this September, , as well as increasing the number of flights to the USA from the airport by 55% this summer. A fleet of brand new 787 Dreamliner aircraft offering an economy and Premium cabin operate all Norwegian long-haul routes from London Gatwick.

Norwegian has continued its growth plans in the UK and Ireland with a huge expansion on its long-haul network. In February, Norwegian launched 10 new transatlantic routes from Edinburgh, Belfast, Cork, Shannon and Dublin. These new flights will serve smaller airports on the US east coast, which offer good access into the New York, Boston and New England areas but carry significantly lower landing charges, allowing Norwegian to offer some truly affordable fares.

The new routes from Edinburgh, Belfast, Cork, Shannon and Dublin will be operated on brand new Boeing 737 MAX aircraft - Norwegian is the European launch customer for this state-of-the-art new aircraft which offers a longer range than existing single-aisle aircraft.
